Dear Malala,

Having recently heard of your terrible ordeal, I am writing to offer my support, and that of all my school, to your cause and to praise you for your bravery in facing up to such unjustifiable hostility.

It is awful to think that in this day and age there are still people who are opposed to girls going to school. Education is something that must be provided by the state for all its citizens regardless of sex, ethnic background or status. It is one of the fundamental rights of all people and is something that must be safeguarded.

Not only is education the right of every person, but it is also the very essence of society. Our modern world depends on well-educated individuals who can become effective citizens. All our great advances in science have depended on education. We now live longer and healthier lives thanks to it. Education empowers individuals to fulfill their potential and so create a brighter future for all of society.

Therefore, young people around the world must unite to ensure that all children are allowed to attend school safely. Malala, your bravery sends this message to the world and for this we thank you.

With gratitude,

Alex Georgiou
